INFORMATION ON STATE-TRADING

8 September 2000

China maintains enterprises covered by the provisions of Article XVII. The products listed in the Annex 2a-1 and Annex 2a-2 in its Protocol are subject to state trading which is carried out by the following corporations.

I. CHINA NATIONAL CHEMICAL IMPORT AND EXPORT CORPORATION (SINOCHEM)

1. Reason and purpose

In order to ensure a stable supply of chemical fertilizer essential for domestic agricultural production and prevent the commercial interests of the customers from being damaged by price fluctuation, the Ministry of Foreign Trade and Economic Cooperation (MOFTEC) authorized SINOCHEM to have the right to import chemical fertilizer. For the same reason, MOFTEC also authorized the company to have the right to import and export crude oil and processed oil.

With the further progress in reforming China's foreign trade regime, a considerable percentage of China's importation of fertilizer, crude oil and processed oil is conducted by non-state trading enterprises. At present, the foreign invested enterprises may import the products for their own use. The enterprises in the Special Economic Zones (SEZs) possessing right to trade may also import the products for their own use. The enterprises engaged in processing trade could also import raw materials used in their production. The Chinese government has also committed to expand the percentage of imports by non-state trading enterprises.

2. Description and function

As mentioned above, SINOCHEM is authorized to import chemical fertilizer and import and export crude oil and processed oil. As a specialized trading company with rich experience and good fame in foreign trade, SINOCHEM acts as a pure agent for domestic users or suppliers of the above-mentioned products. The company negotiates import or export contracts with foreign suppliers or buyers and charges an amount of commission for its services rendered as agreed upon between the company and its domestic clients. No import mark-up is charged by SINOCHEM. The export price is also decided by domestic suppliers. Either the import quantity or export quantity is determined by domestic users or suppliers. The company conducts its trading activities on the basis of on commercial considerations.
