Chapter I General Provisions

1. Purpose

The purpose of this Law shall be to encourage the creation of designs by promoting their protection and utilization so as to contribute to the development of industry.

2. Definitions

(1) "Design" in this Law means a shape, pattern or color or any combination thereof in an article (including part of an article – hereinafter the same except in Section 8) which produces an aesthetic impression on the sense of sight.

(2) "Registered design" in this Law means a design for which a design registration has been effected.

(3) "Working" of a design in this Law means any act of manufacturing, using, assigning, leasing, importing or offering for assignment or lease (including displaying for the purpose of assignment or lease – hereinafter the same) of articles to which the design has been applied.

Chapter II Design Registration and Applications Therefor

3. Registrability of designs

(1) Any person who has created a design capable of being used in industrial manufacture may obtain a design registration therefor, except in the case of the following designs:

(i) designs which were publicly known in Japan or elsewhere prior to the filing of the design application;

(ii) designs which were described in a publication distributed or made available to the public through electric telecommunication lines in Japan or elsewhere prior to the filing of the design application;

(iii) designs which are similar to those referred to in the two preceding paragraphs.

(2) Where a design could easily have been created, prior to the filing of the design application, by a person with ordinary skill in the art to which the design pertains, on the basis of a shape, pattern or color or any combination thereof publicly known in Japan or overseas (other than a design referred to in any of the paragraphs of the preceding subsection), a design registration shall not be effected for such a design, notwithstanding the preceding subsection.

Where a design in an application for a design registration is identical with or similar to part of a design stated in the request or represented in a drawing, photograph, model or sample attached to the request of another application for a design registration which was filed prior to the filing date of the design application and for which the publication in the Design Gazette under the provision of Section 20(3) or 66(3) was made after the date of filing of said application, a design registration shall not be effected for such a design, notwithstanding Section 3(1).

4. Exceptions to lack of novelty of design

(1) In the case of a design which has fallen under Paragraph (i) or (ii) of Section 3(1) against the will of the person having the right to obtain a design registration, such a design shall be deemed not to have fallen under Paragraph (i) or (ii) of Section 3(1) in the application of Section 3(1) and (2) to the design claimed in the application for design registration which has been filed by that person within six months from the date on which the design first fell under those paragraphs.

(2) In the case of a design which has fallen under Paragraph (i) or (ii) of Section 3(1) due to an act on the part of the person having the right to obtain a design registration, the same shall also apply to the application of Section 3(1) and (2) to the design claimed in the application for design registration which has been filed by such person within six months from the date on which the design first fell under those paragraphs.

(3) Any person who desires the application of the preceding subsection shall submit a written statement to that effect to the Commissioner of the Patent Office simultaneously with the application for design registration and also submit to the Commissioner of the Patent Office a document proving that the design which has fallen under Paragraph (i) or (ii) of Section 3(1) is a design to which the preceding subsection may be applied, within 14 days of the filing of the application for design registration.

5. Unregistrable designs

A design registration shall not be effected for the following designs, notwithstanding Section 3:

- (i) designs liable to contravene public order or morality;
- (ii) designs liable to give rise to confusion with respect to articles connected with any other person's business;
- (iii) designs composed of only shapes indispensable to secure the functions of an article.

6. Applications for design registration

(1) Any person desiring a design registration shall submit a request to the Commissioner of the Patent Office, together with a drawing of the design for which registration is sought, stating the following:

(i) the name and the domicile or residence of the applicant for a design registration;

(ii) the name and the domicile or residence of the creator of the design;

(iii) the article or articles to which the design is applied.

(2) Whenever an ordinance of the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry so prescribes, a photograph, model or sample of the design for which registration is sought may be submitted instead of the drawing referred to in the preceding subsection. In such a case, the fact that a photograph, model or sample has been submitted shall be noted in the request.

(3) Where the statement referred to in Subsection 1(iii) concerning the article or articles to which the design is applied, or of which the drawing, photograph or model is attached to the request, is not such as to enable a person with ordinary skill in the art to which the design pertains to visualize the material or dimensions of the article or articles to which the design is applied, so that such a person is unable to recognize the design, the material or dimensions referred to shall be stated in the request.

(4) Where the shape, pattern or color of an article to which the design is applied varies according to the function that the article possesses and where registration is sought for the shape, pattern or color or a combination thereof as it appears before, during and after the variation referred to, the request shall contain a statement to that effect as well as an explanation concerning the said function of the article.

(5) When the colors of the design are applied on the drawing, photograph or model submitted under Subsection (1) or (2), any parts that are white or black need not be colored.

(6) Where parts are not colored, in accordance with the preceding subsection, the request shall contain a statement to that effect.

(7) In the case of the drawing of a design submitted under Subsection (1) or the photograph or model submitted under Subsection (2), where the whole or part of the article to which the design has been applied is transparent, the request shall contain a statement to that effect.

7. Unity of design

An application for a design registration shall relate to a single design corresponding to an article in the classes of articles prescribed by an ordinance of the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry.

8. Design of a set of articles

In the case of a design of two or more articles that are used together as a set of articles, forming the articles prescribed by an ordinance of the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry (hereinafter referred to as a "set of articles"), an application for design registration may be made as for one design, provided that the set of articles is coordinated as a whole.

9. First-to-file rule

(1) Where two or more design applications relating to the same or a similar design are filed on different dates, only the first applicant may obtain a design registration for the design.

(2) Where two or more design applications relating to the same or a similar design are filed on the same date, only one such applicant, agreed upon after mutual consultation among all the applicants, may obtain a design registration for the design. If no agreement is reached or no consultation is possible, none of the applicants shall obtain a design registration for the design.

(3) Where a design application is surrendered, withdrawn or dismissed or where an examiner's decision or trial decision that a design application is to be refused has become final and conclusive, such application shall, for the purpose of Subsections (2) and (3), be deemed never to have been made. However, this provision shall not apply where an examiner's decision or a trial decision that the design application is to be refused under the provision of the last sentence of Subsection (2) becomes final and conclusive.

(4) A design application filed by a person who is neither the creator of the design nor the successor in title to the right to obtain a design registration shall, for the purposes of Subsections (1) and (2), be deemed not to be a design application.

(5) The Commissioner of the Patent Office shall, in the case of Subsection (2), order the applicants to hold consultations for an agreement under that subsection and to report the result thereof, within an adequate time limit.

(6) Where the report under the preceding subsection is not made within the time limit designated in accordance with that subsection, the Commissioner of the Patent Office may deem that no agreement under Subsection (2) has been reached.

9bis. Amendment of statement in a request or of drawings, etc., and change of gist

Where, after registration of the establishment of the design right, it is found that an amendment of the statement in the request (excluding matters listed in Section 6(1)(i) and (ii) and matters described under Section 6(2) – referred to in Sections 17bis(1) and 24 as "the statement in the request") or of drawings, photographs, models or samples attached to the request has changed the gist thereof, the design application shall be deemed to have been filed at the time when the amendment in writing was submitted.

10. Related designs

(1) Notwithstanding Section 9(2), an applicant for a design registration may obtain registration of a design which is similar to a principal design (meaning one design selected from designs in his own design applications) (hereinafter referred to as a "related design"), provided that the filing date of the application for the principal design [in the case of a design application containing a priority claim under Section 43(1) or Section 43bis(1) or (2) of the Patent Law (Law No. 121 of 1959) as applied under Section 15 of this Law, the filing date of the first application or the application considered to be the first application in accordance with Article 4 C(4) or A(2) of the Paris Convention (meaning the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property of March 20, 1883, as revised at Brussels on December 14, 1900, at Washington on June 2, 1911, at Hague on November 6, 1925, at London on June 2, 1934, at Lisbon on October 31, 1958, and at Stockholm on July 14, 1967) or an application recognized as the first application in accordance with Article A(2) of the Paris Convention (hereinafter the same in this subsection)] is the same as the filing date of the application for the registration of that related design.

(2) A design registration shall not be effected for a design that is similar only to a related design to be registered under the preceding subsection.

(3) Where there are two or more design applications for related designs relating to the principal design, the provision of Section 9(2) shall not apply to these related designs.

10bis. Division of design applications

(1) An applicant for a design registration may divide a design application comprising two or more designs into one or more new design applications, only during the pendency of the application in examination, trial or retrial.

(2) Where a design application has been divided under the preceding subsection, the new design application shall be deemed to have been filed at the time of filing of the original application. However, this provision shall not apply for the purposes of Section 4(3) of this Law and Section 43(1) and (2) of the Patent Law as applied under Section 15(1) of this Law (including its application under Section 43bis(3) of the Patent Law as applied under Section 15(1) of this Law).

(3) Where the new application for design registration under Subsection (1) is filed, any statements or documents which have been submitted with respect to the original application for design registration and which shall be submitted with respect to the new application for design registration in accordance with Section 4(3) of this Law or Section 43(1) and (2) of the Patent Law as applied under Section 15(1) of this Law (including its application under 43bis(3) of the Patent Law as applied under Section 15(1) of this Law), shall be deemed to have been submitted to the Commissioner of the Patent Office simultaneously with the said new application for design registration.

(2) An applicant for a utility model registration may convert his application into a design application.

(3) The period prescribed in the proviso to Subsection (1) shall, when the time limit prescribed in Section 121(1) of the Patent Law has been extended in accordance with Section 4 of that Law, be deemed to have been extended only for that period as extended.

(4) Where the conversion of an application is made under Subsection (1) or (2), the original application shall be deemed to have been withdrawn.

(5) Section 10bis(2) and (3) shall apply mutatis mutandis to the conversion of an application under Subsection (1) or (2).

13bis. Special provisions concerning conversion of applications under the Patent Cooperation Treaty

(1) Conversion of an international application having been deemed a patent application under Section 184ter(1) or 184vicies(4) of the Patent Law into a design application may not be made until, in respect of a Japanese language patent application referred to in Section 184sexies(2) of the Patent Law, after the proceeding under Section 184quinquies(1) of the Patent Law has been taken, and in respect of a foreign language patent application referred to in Section 184quater(1) of the Patent Law, after the proceedings under the said subsection and Section 184quinquies(1) of the Patent Law have been taken and, further, after the fee to be paid under Section 195(2) of the Patent Law has been paid (or - in respect of an request would change the gist thereof, the examiner shall decline the amendment by a ruling.

(2) The ruling to decline an amendment under the preceding subsection shall be in writing and state the reasons therefor.

(3) Where a ruling to decline an amendment under Subsection (1) has been rendered, the examiner's decision with respect to the design application shall not be rendered before the expiration of 30 days from the transmittal of that ruling.

(4) Where an applicant has demanded a trial under Section 47(1) against a ruling to decline an amendment under Subsection (1), the examiner shall suspend the examination of the design application until the trial decision has become final and conclusive.

17ter. New application for design as amended

(1) Where an applicant for a design registration has filed a new design application for the design as amended within 30 days from the transmittal of a ruling to decline an amendment under Section 17bis(1), the design application shall be deemed to have been filed at the time of submission of that amendment.

(2) Where a new design application referred to in the preceding subsection has been filed, the original design application shall be deemed withdrawn.

(3) When registration under the preceding subsection has been effected, the following shall be published in the Design Gazette (Ishô Kôhō):

(i) the name and the domicile or residence of the owner of the design right;

(ii) the number and the date of the design application;

(iii) the registration number and the date of registration of the establishment;

(iv) the contents of the request and the drawing, photograph, model or sample attached to the request;

(v) necessary matters other than those listed in the preceding paragraphs.

(4) In the case of a design for which secrecy has been demanded under Section 14(1), the matters referred to in Paragraph (iv) of the preceding subsection shall, notwithstanding Section 14(1), be published immediately after the period designated under Section 14(1) has expired.

21. Term of design right

(1) The term of a design right (excluding a right of a related design) shall be 15 years from the date of registration of its establishment.

(2) The term of a right of a related design shall be 15 years from the date of registration of the principal design right.

22. Effects of design rights

(1) Rights of a principal design and a related design relating thereto may not be transferred independently.

(2) Where a principal design right is extinguished under the provision of Section 44(4), is abandoned, or a trial decision to invalidate has become final and conclusive, the right of the related design relating to the principal design may not be transferred independently.

23. Effects of design right

The owner of a design right shall have an exclusive right to commercially work the registered design and designs similar thereto. However, where the design right is the subject of an exclusive license, this provision shall not apply to the extent that the exclusive licensee has an exclusive right to work the registered design and designs similar thereto.

24. Scope of registered design

The scope of a registered design shall be decided on the basis of the statement in the request and the design represented in the drawing attached to the request or shown in the photograph, model or sample attached to the request.

26. Relationship with another's registered design, etc.

(1) When a registered design would utilize another person's registered design or design similar thereto, patented invention or registered utility model under an application filed prior to the filing date of the design application concerned, or when the part of a design right relating to the registered design conflicts with another person's patent, utility model or trademark right under an application filed prior to the filing date of the design application concerned, or conflicts with another person's copyright taking effect prior to that date, the owner of the design right, exclusive licensee or non-exclusive licensee shall not commercially work the registered design.

(2) When a design similar to a registered design would utilize another person's registered design or design similar thereto, patented invention or registered utility model under an application filed prior to the filing date of the design application concerned, or when the part of a design right relating to designs similar to the registered design conflicts with another person's design, patent, utility model or trademark right under an application filed prior to the filing date of the design application concerned, or conflicts with another person's copyright taking effect prior to that date, the owner of the design right, exclusive licensee or non-exclusive licensee shall not commercially work the design similar to the registered design.

27. Exclusive licenses

(1) The owner of a design right may grant an exclusive license on the design right. The exclusive license on a right of a principal design or rights of related designs may be granted only where the exclusive license on the right of the principal design and the rights of all related designs relating thereto is granted simultaneously to the same party.

(2) An exclusive licensee shall have an exclusive right to commercially work the registered design and designs similar thereto to the extent laid down in the license contract.

(3) Where the design right of a principal design is extinguished under Section 44(4), is abandoned, or a trial decision to invalidate becomes final and conclusive, the exclusive license on the rights of related designs may be granted only where the exclusive license on the rights of all related designs is granted simultaneously to the same party.

30. Non-exclusive license due to working prior to registration of demand for invalidation trial

(1) When a person coming within any of the paragraphs set out below has been commercially working a design or design similar thereto in Japan or has been making preparations therefor, prior to the registration of a demand for a trial under Section 48(1), without knowing that the design registration falls under any of the paragraphs of the subsection referred to, such person shall have a non-exclusive license on the design right or on the exclusive license existing at the time when the design registration was invalidated, to the extent of the design being worked or preparations being made for its commercial working:

(i) the original owner of the design right where one of two or more design registrations granted for the same or a similar design has been invalidated;

(ii) the original owner of the design right, where his design registration has been invalidated and a design registration for the same or a similar design has been granted to the person entitled;

31. Non-exclusive license after expiration of design right, etc.

(1) Where one design application was filed prior to or on the filing date of another design application and part of the design right (relating to designs similar to the registered design concerned) under the first-mentioned application conflicts with the design right under the other application and the term of the first-mentioned design right has expired, the owner of the original design right shall, to the extent of such right, have a non-exclusive license on the other design right or the exclusive license existing at the time when his design right expired.

(2) Where a patent right or a utility model right under an application filed prior to or on the filing date of a design application conflicts with the design right under that application, the preceding subsection shall apply mutatis mutandis where the term of the patent right or utility model right has expired.

(1) Where one design application was filed prior to or on the filing date of another design application and part of the design right (relating to designs similar to the registered design concerned) under the first-mentioned application conflicts with the design right under the other application and the term of the first-mentioned design right has expired, a person who, at the time of expiration, has an exclusive license on the expired design right or a non-exclusive license which is effective under Section 99(1) of the Patent Law, as applied under Section 28(3) of this Law, against the expired design right or the exclusive license, shall, to the extent of the expired right, have a non-exclusive license on the other design right or on the exclusive license existing when the first-mentioned design right has expired.

(2) The other person referred to in Section 26 who has been requested to hold the consultations under the preceding subsection may request the owner of the design right or the exclusive licensee having requested the consultations to hold consultations on the grant of a non-exclusive license within the scope of the registered design which the owner of the design right or the exclusive licensee desires to work by obtaining the non-exclusive license on the design right, the patent right or the utility model right through the consultations requested by the owner of the design right or the exclusive licensee.

(3) If no agreement is reached or no consultation is possible under Subsection (1), the owner of the design right or the exclusive licensee may request the Commissioner of the Patent Office for an arbitration decision.

(4) If no agreement is reached or no consultation is possible under Subsection (2) and an arbitration under the preceding subsection is requested, the other person referred to in Section 26 may request the Commissioner of the Patent Office for an arbitration decision only within the time limit which the Commissioner of the Patent Office designates as the time limit for the other person to submit a written reply in accordance with Section 84 of the Patent Law as applied under Subsection (7).

(6) In the case of Subsection (4) in addition to the case provided for in the preceding subsection, the Commissioner of the Patent Office shall not render an arbitration decision ordering a non-exclusive license to be granted if an arbitration decision ordering a non-exclusive license to be granted is not rendered with respect to the request for the arbitration decision under Subsection (3).

(2) A non-exclusive licensee may, except in the case of a non-exclusive license resulting from an arbitration under Section 33(3) or (4) of this Law, Section 92(3) of the Patent Law or Section 22(3) of the Utility Model Law, establish a pledge on the non-exclusive license but only with the consent of the owner of the design right (or the owner and the exclusive licensee in the case of a non-exclusive license on an exclusive license).

(3) A non-exclusive license resulting from an arbitration under Section 33(3) of this Law, Section 92(3) of the Patent Law or Section 22(3) of the Utility Model Law shall be transferred together with the design, patent or utility model right to which the non-exclusive licensee is entitled and which is transferred together with the business in which it is worked and shall be extinguished at the time when such design, patent or utility model right has been transferred separately from the business in which it is worked or has been extinguished.

(4) A non-exclusive license resulting from an arbitration under Section 33(4) of this Law shall be transferred together with the design, patent or utility model right to which the non-exclusive licensee is entitled, and shall be extinguished at the time when such design, patent or utility model right has been extinguished.

39. Presumption, etc. of amount of damage

(1) Where the owner of a design right or exclusive licensee claims, from a person who has intentionally or negligently infringed the design right or exclusive license, compensation for damage caused to him by the infringement, and the person's act is the assignment of articles by which the act of the infringement was committed, the sum of money with the unit price of such articles multiplied by the number of articles (hereinafter referred to in this paragraph as the "number of assigned articles") which the owner of the design right or exclusive licensee could have sold in the absence of the infringement may be estimated as the amount of damage suffered by the owner of the design right or exclusive licensee within a limit not exceeding an amount attainable depending on working capability of the owner of the design right or exclusive licensee. Where there is any circumstance that prevents the owner of the design right or exclusive licensee from selling part or the whole of the number of assigned articles, a sum equivalent to the number of assigned articles subject to that circumstance shall be deducted.

(2) Where the owner of a design right or exclusive licensee claims, from a person who has intentionally or negligently infringed the design right or exclusive license, compensation for damage caused to him by the infringement, the profits gained by the infringer through the infringement shall be presumed to be the amount of damage suffered by the owner or exclusive licensee.

(3) The owner of a design right or exclusive licensee may claim, from a person who has intentionally or negligently infringed the design right or exclusive license, an amount of money which he would be entitled to receive for the working of the registered design or designs similar thereto, as the amount of damage suffered by him.

(4) The preceding subsection shall not preclude a claim to damages exceeding the amount referred to therein. In such a case, where there has been neither willfulness nor gross negligence on the part of the person who has infringed the design right or the exclusive license, the court may take this into consideration when awarding damages.

40. Presumption of negligence

A person who has infringed a design right or exclusive license of another person shall be presumed to have been negligent as far as the act of infringement is concerned.
